SAGASTA THROWS UP THE SPONGE

FUNERAL OF THE EMPRESS OF BRAZIL

CHURCH AND STATE DIVORCED IN BRAZIL

Madrid, 8th.—Sagasta has informed the Queen Regent that he abandons the attempt to form a new Cabinet, and Her Majesty has summoned the Presidents of the Senate and the Deputies to a Conference.

Lisbon, 8th.—The funeral of the late Empress of Brazil took place yesterday with great pomp.

Rio, 8th.—The Brazilian Government has decreed the separation of Church and State, and has proclaimed liberty of conscience.

STANLEY'S RECEPTION.

EMPRESS OF BRAZIL'S FUNERAL.

Madrid, 7th—Sagasta has no chance of forming a Cabinet. His frequent interviews with the most prominent Liberals have shown that their party is determined to exact conditions which the Premier cannot concede.

Rome, 7th—Great reductions have been made in the expenditure of the Papal household.

Berlin, 7th.—The Empress Augusta died this evening at 4.50. She was recovering, but had a relapse. A great crowd assembled in front of the palace, and showed great sorrow for the event. The Empress received the sacraments before she died.

Calcutta, 8th.—A magnificent fete has been given here in honour of Prince Albert Victor.

London, 8th.—Stanley has accepted the invitation to a banquet of the North Americans in London. He will arrive in the middle of February. Minister Lincoln will offer Stanley an American flag and a silver shield representing scenes in Africa.

Lisbon, 8th—The remains of the Empress of Brazil came yesterday in a special train from Oporto and were interred amidst great demonstration of regret. Dom Pedro and family were present.

EXPLORATION OF THE PILCOMAYO

(From our Special Correspondent)

Asuncion, 8th

The explorer Ofstorm and a party of 30 well-armed men left this afternoon in a small steamer to explore the Pilcomayo as far as Bolivia and thus solve the question of its navigation. Dr. Morgan, the well-known botanist, and Engineer Frederic Freund accompany the intrepid explorer.

All Asuncion assembled in the port to speed the travellers, and great hopes are entertained of the success of the expedition.

The Humaita, from Corumba, is in quarantine.

The Britannia has arrived.

Dr. Ramirez made a great speech in the Deputies in favour of the Cedula guarantee.

The air is full of rumours about the Presidential election, but none of them are worth wiring.

Mr. Baring is expected here.

Special Telegram.

Cedula Bill discussion continues; evening sittings will be held until concluded.

Replying to rumours in the constitutionalist papers that he intended to support Salvador Tajes as candidate for the presidency, President Tajes has authorised an explicit declaration that he has not had and will not have any candidate, nor will he influence the election in March in any way; but will respect and make respected the vote of the Assembly.

Britannia arrived, Dr. Moreno on board.

Much agitation on Bolsa. Obras fell to 24; reaction then set in, and they closed 28.50. National Banks 99.50. Unified 71.50.

(From the Interior.)

Salta, 8th.—The new Governor, Dr. Guemes, has returned, and is enveloped in friends. Dr. Pedro Frias has been proclaimed candidate for the next term. He is at present Minister of the Government. All political questions are to be settled by the Eden, a political association like the Panal Club in Cordoba.

Parana, 8th.—Mr. Florencio Arteaga has been named Chief of Police in Victoria.

Col. S. Garcia has arrived here.

"TU QUOQUE"

The popular Governor of Santa Fe deserves much credit for the courage of his opinions. In a speech the main points of which we reproduce in another column, the versatile Governor gives his countrymen a piece of his mind and calls on them to mend their ways. The speech is an invaluable document, as it is an eloquent and true reflection of the views that the national and provincial authorities harbor as to the cause of the financial difficulties of the country. The men in power are convinced that they have done all they could to foster the progress of the country, that the finances of the national and provincial executives are sound and flourishing, but that the finances of the people are rotten because the people are given to extravagance and speculation. This is indeed a convenient view of the financial predicament in which we are all plunged, and leads one to expect little comfort from the powers that be, when they so gratuitously throw all the blame of the currency muddle on the people they govern. But for the well established reputation of Dr. Galvez, the most enterprising Governor Santa Fe ever had, we might feel inclined to doubt the sincerity of his financial creed. Yet the Governor is convinced of the veracity of his financial doxy, and in this instance echoes the sentiments of every man in government in the Argentine Republic. They all believe that speculators are to blame for the present deplorable state of affairs, and we agree with them. Speculation is the cause of the situation, the "fons et origo" of all our difficulties; and the only cure is the removal of that speculation. But where is the cause of the speculation?

The sole cause of this extravagance, inflation and speculation, here as well as in Santa Fe and all over the country, is the abuse of credit. We shall not emphatically assert that the Governments have abused credit in every form, that legislatures have too liberally voted away the people's money, that Congress has saddled the nation with guaranteed railways to the amount of a nominal capital of $440,000,000 gold; this and more we shall leave unsaid, for the finances of the National and Provincial Governments, according to Governor Galvez, were never sounder or more flourishing. We shall not join issue as to the amount of assets of the National Treasury, its enormous resources in cash gold and paper money; no, with all this we shall heartily agree, but we must drew the line at the wholesale charge that the people are to blame for the bad state of the country's finances, that the people are guilty of the speculation and inflation that has put gold at 135o/o premium. The speculation, the abuse of credit, springs from the facilities of issuing bank notes under the aegis of state protection. Fourteen or more state banks have been launched into existence in the last two years to scatter millions of paper dollars over the provinces and give birth to that speculation, that inflation and that extravagance we all deplore in unison with the indignant governor of Santa Fé. The one hundred and sixty millions of greenbacks turned out under the full pressure of state banking presses, lent to the influential, to the favored, to the speculator, to the syndicate, are the factors that have enveloped the whole country in a blaze of currency ruin. Had all those banks been started as "bona fide" free banks, unfettered by state connection, above all political affinities, these millions of paper money would not have been sunk in insane speculation, in a mad attempt at rushing lands and stocks into balloon-like prices, to launch people into sudden and meteoric fortunes: those millions would have been lent to the farmer, to the shepherd, to the trader, on good security, and had there been any abuse of credit, well then the financial retribution would have fallen on these very banks, not on the nation at large. What irony of fate ever prompted Dr. Galvez to thus taunt the farmer and the producer with the infirmities he is groaning under and inflicted by the very Government financing that the Governor flaunts as sound and flourishing. Of what avail is it to the nation that the Government shine in opulence if the people groan under the depreciation of the dollar? Of what earthly use is it to boast of the treasury's millions and flaunt its wealth before our eyes, when that very accumulation of money is the severest condemnation of the financial state of the country at large? The people have to thank the State Banks for the currency crisis: the few have to thank them for the rise in lands and stocks, and for easy fortunes. And as long as the state banking calamity is allowed to drain the value of the people's paper-money we shall live under perennial forced currency and never emerge from the financial slough. Let the cry be —no more State-banks—and let the country carry out that programme in the next presidential campaign; but all this is a dream at the best: words, words, and nothing but words, cast to the winds, leaving not an echo in the financial void.

SANTA-FE STATISTICS

The new year has been ushered in with such an avalanche of statistical figures that every province and every department appear arrayed in tables, and a very fair idea can be formed of the present situation of the country. The financial condition of the provinces deserves special attention, and we have singled out Santa Fe for the first chapter. The revenue in 1888 amounted to $2,854,120, and this was absorbed by the expenditure of administration. In the same year the service on the railway loan was $409,143, and that on the foreign debt 372,952. The total indebtedness of the Province amounts to 26 millions. In regard to the Budget voted for 1890 there has been a considerable increase. The revenue is set down at 5,905,738 dol. Last year it was only 3,614,310 dol. The Provincial Government expects to obtain this year 1,600,000 from the Contribucion Directa or Land-tax, while the profits of the Bank are set down at 3 millions. In 1888 the profits of the Provincial Bank of Santa Fe, were very little over ½ million.

Of the $3,471,450 in bonds in circulation the Government amortized 11,850. But we note the Governor in the first days of last year granted authority to the Banco de Credito Territorial y Agricola to issue 15 millions gold in bonds bearing five per cent interest and with a sinking-fund of one per cent, guaranteed by the Province. Nevertheless, it is noteworthy that Santa Fe has proceeded with plausible prudence in the use of credit. Its financial condition is by no means encumbered, and the development of agriculture continues very steadily.

In regard to the population of Santa Fe, there are 220,332 inhabitants, including 84,215 foreigners. This gives a population of one and a fraction per square kilometer. The area of the Province is 9,945,800 hectares (2½ acres are equivalent to 1 hectare) and of this figure 1,108,043 are under tillage. There are 17,626 landed proprietors, including 8,763 foreigners. There are 2,328,543 head of cattle; 525,413 horses, including 10,889 imported horses; 2,977,382 sheep. The cattle of the Province are valued at $41,879,282.

The number of business houses and industrial establishments in Santa Fe sums up 4,833, and their capital $49,890,828.

There are five railways (1,315 kilometres) working, and their aggregate capital amounts to $44,000,000. 952 kilometres are in course of construction, and 1,246 have been conceded.

The following companies were started last year in Santa Fe—La Reaseguradora Sud-Americana (insurance), capital two millions; Banco Sindical, capital six millions; Tramway del Oeste, capital 350,000 dollars; Banco Industrial y Comercial, capital five millions; Cocheria Modelo, capital 200,000 dollars; Granja Modelo Provincial, capital 500,000 dollars Fabrica de Tabacos, capital three millions; Empresa de Muelles y Depositos, capital one million; Sociedad General de Credito, capital half a million; Puerto Rivadavia, capital two millions; Centro Fabril and Puerto Belgrano, capital three millions; Banco Franco-Argentino, capital ten millions; Banco Santa Fe, capital five millions: Edificadora de Santa Fe, capital five millions; Banco Rosarino de Seguros Comerciales, capital six millions.

The foregoing list will give an idea of the great enterprise of people in Santa Fe. The aggregate capital of the banks existing prior to the founding of the above amounts to over forty-seven millions, and yet people up there are clamoring for more money to foment industry.

THE YELLOW FEVER SCARE

There is nothing fresh in the way of yellow fever cases to report to-day. The case in Calle Moreno was merely of a sporadic nature, but interesting details and antecedents are cropping up, and these we append. The Mayor of Moron, in order to prevent the health authorities here sending the family of the deceased girl to that smiling and healthy district, rented the house taken for that purpose, and in this manner showed very clearly that the people of Moron will on no account permit the Sabalain family to reside there. After all we cannot blame the Mayor for this energetic attitude, although the law is partly against him. The Sabalain family will not go to Moron, for the simple reason that no house will be found for them. In such a moment as this, when excitement and fear combine to trouble the reason of the coolest head, it is a noble spectacle to see the President of the Republic rise to the level of the occasion and with a generosity and courage that can only be explained by his virtues as a citizen and his power as a landed proprietor, offer, according to a contemporary, one of his estancias as a residence for the persecuted and bereaved family. The President is willing to do what few would dare to do: to sacrifice himself and his interests for the good of the community, and he therefore deserves the very warmest applause from every citizen of the Republic. We learn, however, that the family are to be sent to Dr. Mir's estancia in Magdalena near the coast, and this gallant member of the faculty has volunteered to personally attend to these unfortunate people who, from all accounts, are in the enjoyment of the the very best health. It is curious that there are very many prominent members of the medical corps who are convinced and maintain that the death of the girl Ines Sabalain was not caused by yellow fever and that the fatal issue of a sudden, doubtful disease and the presence of a servant from a steamer that had had a case of yellow fever on board was a mere coincidence, which but for the death of the girl and the consequent scare would have passed unnoticed. Be this as it may, the fact is there are no further cases to chronicle, and the health authorities are looking all over the city for the people that landed from the steamship Portugal. In this pursuit the authorities have been somewhat baffled, owing, it is said, to certain irregularities whereby several passengers of that boat landed without filling the requisite formalities that obtain in the cases of quarantined vessels. Mr. Sunblad, in officially explaining these irregularities, says that the Portugal brought out 444 immigrants. About 33 of the first-class passengers had been brought ashore in the Jenner, the Doctor's steamer, on the conclusion of the quarantine, and hence the irregularities against which every one is clamouring, in our opinion, with little reason.

In regard to the luckless servant girl, who is supposed to have had the germs of the disease about her after all the disinfection, fumigation and hardships undergone in the lazaretto, she is in La Plata, and together with the members of the Sabalain family there, kept in what is hygienically termed an isolated condition. It appears that the La Plata authorities do not fear any outbreak of the plague. Such, at least, is the tenor of a telegram received last evening. But a vigorous sanitary inspection has been instituted.

GOVERNOR GALVEZ ON THE CRISIS.

On the occasion of the opening of the Santa Fe Rural Society, Governor Galvez made a speech so remarkable for its vigor and even originality that we have decided to translate it. The Governor said:—

Gentlemen—Your attention has just been called by the chairman to the immense future of the province, and to the advantages we may expect to accrue from the institution we to-day open. You know the sphere of action traced out for the Society, and I think we may confidently look forward to the brilliant success of this work, which is fertilized with patriotism and rests on the solid basis of labor, faith, and perseverance displayed by yourselves, who represent every class, every opinion, and aspiration.

Your words must be counsel; your example a lesson. You must shew the agriculturist that his prosperity lies in the enlargement of his plantations. You must shew the farmer that his depends on the crossing and improvement of breeds, and you must shew them that the agricultural and pastoral industries are not hostile but equally destined to build up the greatness of the country. You must advise the colonist of the dangers of the seasons, the influences of the climate, and you must tell the cattle-farmer that his paddocks will increase the bounty of his camp. . . . . But it is not enough to seek the laborer or the farmer in his hut and point him out the road to prosperity and wealth. You must stand up as the champions, the defenders of that wealth. You must shew him that the action of Government interferes with nothing. The Government gives all it can—commercial and industrial freedom, and low taxation, without which concessions no wealth is possible. I do not say that freedom in commerce and industry and a low taxation constitute wealth; they are the means, they are the indispensable condition for the acquisition of wealth. We may ask other things of Governments, but the principal thing is the financial policy of the State.

We have no social problems to solve, we have not the terrible features of the struggle for life which we see in other countries; we have no pauperism, no proletariate, and we can command for imitation that which we call our financial policy. Do we not enjoy here, as in no other country, industrial and commercial liberty? Have we a single tax onerous enough to kill any industry or hinder any branch of commerce? Do not our Governments fill the country with public works without increasing the burden of taxation? Have we not a national treasury with sufficient money to pay off in one day the entire amount of the National debt? Do we not punctually defray the service on our loans? Are not all our budgets covered? What more then do we require from the Governments in the country? Nothing, because they fulfil their mission, and the state of the Treasury bespeaks the excellence of their financial policy. But, like the Governments, the country has its finances, which are quite independent of official influence. And who directs, who manages those finances? The country itself with the movement of its production, with its commerce and its industry, with its consumption, with the payment of its debts, with its speculations, with its gambling, with the inequality of its budgets, with the abuse of its credit, with the difference in a word, between its production and its consumption.

The finances of a country are directed by the country, and the Government has nothing to do with them. The exports are for the country, and the imports are for the country; and we need never feel alarmed at the difference between them so long as that difference is represented, as amongst us, by colonies, towns, cities, plantations, railways, canals, ports, and such productive works.

The finances of the National and Provincial Governments are irreproachable. Not so the finances of the country. And this inequality the Governments of the country cannot remedy, because they have not, they cannot have, any intervention in private transactions, and because, above all, prudence, judgment and foresight in business cannot be produced by laws and decrees; and if you want the proof of it, look at what the country owes abroad, and observe what a small part of the debt devolves on the Treasury. Then examine the annual production of the country, and see what a very small part is disposed of by the Treasury for its revenue. You are, nearly all of you, merchants or estancieros, and I am certain that the highest amount any one of you pays in taxes does not come up to what any one of you will spend in a week in a café, or in a day in the Euskara Ball-court, or at the race-course. Government is only one of the many factors that make up the country, and we must not expect from that factor alone the work of all.

You inhabit the second city in population and commercial importance of the Republic, and you know how far Government can interfere in your business. Government interference is nil. How then can you throw on the several Governments in the country the responsibility of your own exclusive decisions?

Have we spent more than we produce—have we speculated without prudence and thus caused inflation—have we discounted our future—have we gambled with our credit—have we created wants we can no longer supply—have we turned our paper dollar, our public bond, into a capricious security that obeys no law—have we not made it rise under a pressure that was not a genuine expression of the market, or by offers the only object of which is the vulgar aim of a bet, a lottery, a game of hazard? Well, then, we must suffer the consequences of our conduct in creating a fictitious situation, which is no reflection of the state of the Nation, which is rich and prosperous, but a reflection of commercial disorders, which it is the interest of all, and our own interest, to immediately suppress.

Thus the aberrations of commercial liberty shall be remedied by that liberty itself doing what we all erroneously think Government can do by launching loans and bringing gold to the country. Do you believe for one moment that the Government can bring out enough gold to satiate the thirst for speculation, when you yourselves in your nascent Bolsa actually sold 24 millions gold in February last, while in B. Aires 66 millions were sold? When 90 millions are gambled away in 28 days there is no use looking out for a fall in the gold premium by importing the precious metal. No. The way to bring down gold is very different. Just simply stop gambling: let each one buy merely that which is strictly necessary. Let gold be bought only by those who owe gold. But we are all fast becoming speculators, not only the merchants, but lawyers, doctors, notaries, our very clerks. It is quite clear that if this goes on, the country will never have enough gold; no human power will be able to supply it with sufficient gold; no decree or measure of the Government will be of the slightest use; neither government honesty nor prudence will be of any avail; no treasury however well filled and unfettered will be of service, and our entire production will be small, and our biggest crops insignificant.

We have brought our afflictions upon ourselves, because we have increased our wants and requirements to such a degree that we are now haunted with the idea of a crisis, which is a mistake, for the country was never richer, nor more prosperous, and everyone in it is a thousand times richer to-day than three years ago.

We must strip the situation of its artificial trappings, and of its anomalies, if we want to bring it to its proper level. The judicious management of individual finances will engender order throughout the entire country. Judgment, prudence and foresight in private business are indispensable for this . . . .

URUGUAY IN 1889.

(From the River Plate Times)

The year 1889 has been one of which Uruguay may well feel proud; a year of serious work; a year of peace and progress.

To recapitulate all that has been accomplished in the past year would be a lengthy task, but the following notes may perhaps serve to give an idea of the extent to which 1889 has contributed to the material progress both of Montevideo and Uruguay.

The number of houses and buildings that have been constructed in Montevideo during the past year has been something astonishing: the amount of capital laid out in this manner must indeed be enormous, though the demand for more houses which still prevails clearly proves the insufficiency, even yet of the supply.

The Grand National Hotel, adjacent to the splendid Gounouilhou Building establishment at the west of the city, is now almost completed, and will, we believe, be very shortly inaugurated. The speed with which this truly magnificent building has been constructed, the work even being carried on at night by electric light, has well responded to the demand for really luxurious hotel accommodation in Montevideo, a demand which becomes more urgent every day as the attractions of the season and the increased activity of business draw hundreds of visitors to the Queen City of the Plate.

Many other large buildings, though still unfinished, are being pushed onrapidly, such as the solid edifice which is being constructed for the English Bank of the River Plate at the corner of calles Zabala and 25 de Mayo; the splendid house belonging to Señor Pons, in the Plaza Independencia, one story of which is already occupied; the large medicinal bathing establishment and hotel in Calle 25 de Mayo; the hotel in Plaza Cangancha, and the immense new building near the Playa Ramirez, now ready for inauguration as the new School of Arts and Trades.

Calle 25 de Mayo has been the theatre of the inauguration of two splendid buildings this year, the new offices of the National Company at the corner of Trienta y Tres, and the grand Municipal palace, the property of the Junta of Montevideo, at the corner of Calle Camaras.

The past year has also witnessed the inauguration of many useful institutions:—The Electric Light Works at the Arroyo Seco, Monteverde's Furniture Factory, the Lottery Establishment, new departments of the Caridad Hospital, Maternal Asylums connected with the Public Benevolent Society, etc.

The Electric Light has made great advances in Montevideo, the Company now having the entire care of almost all the public street lighting throughout the city.

Amongst other important works that have been brought to a successful issue this year in Montevideo is the new street paving, which is now almost completed, reflecting great credit on the Municipal authorities for the care and speed with which it has been accomplished. The road to the Bucco has been levelled and made passable, an improvement which has long been earnestly demanded, as the new cemeteries could only be reached by this road.

The labors of the Municipal authorities during the past year have been urgently directed to the preparation of the plans for the making of 110 kilometers of cart-roads through the departments of the capital, a preliminary to the extension of the same throughout the country, and these last months have seen the works successfully inaugurated.

The taking of the Montevideo departmental census—showing the population of this important division of the Republic to have been 214,682, on the 18th November, and of which 114,578 were natives and 100,104 foreigners—is an event of immense importance with which 1889 may be credited, an event which will make the past year long remembered and will render it a year to which continual reference will have to be made for all time, by future Uruguayan statisticians.

The inauguration of the new deposits of the Montevideo Water Works Company at Santa Lucia is also an important event and should not be overlooked, as it has had a most beneficial effect on the hygiene of Montevideo, which is now supplied with beautifully clear and pure water.

In Montevideo itself the unification of the trams and the formation of the principal lines into one company is noteworthy; very considerable improvement in the service, to which the new arrangement gives scope, being likely to result therefrom.

The year 1889 has been extremely prolific in the creation and establishment of banking houses and other institutions of credit in Uruguay. Institutions for the foment of agricultural and mining interests, colonization, edification, the purchase and sale of lands and properties having developed on all sides.

As regards public administration in 1889, there are two facts which must not be overlooked and which speak most favourably for our governing body. In the year just passed the revenue of Uruguay through her Custom House has steadily increased month by month, but to a most notable extent, while the Budget expenses have decreased. Another hopeful sign is the notable increase in the immigration returns.

Immigration, colonization and agriculture have received considerable encouragement during the past year, large numbers of immigrants having been brought out both by public and private enterprise and established in agricultural colonies, that give promise of becoming very speedily important factors in the increase of national production. The immigrants in the past year have had a special hotel set apart for them, which, however, has soon proved inadequate, as the number of new arrivals has so quickly increased; the authorities are therefore planning an improvement which will, no doubt, be promptly carried out. As regards lands for colonization, great demand, we understand, has been created for these in Guaviyu, an admirably situated field for the agricultural immigrant, while other centres in more distant departments and along the routes of the new railways are also well looked after.

As regards our staple products in 1889, the crops give promise of being signally abundant. Animals are in fine condition, and the attention which has lately been given to the introduction of blood stock has not been without its effect. Even hard hearted saladeristas appear to be relenting and offering higher prices once more, while the prospects of a reasonable arrangement of the important jerked beef question are increasing; for some such arrangement will no doubt be one of the happy results of the revolution in Brazil.

Our wool and other products are getting into more favour every day in the European markets, partly the result, no doubt, of the favourable impression created by our exhibits in the recent Paris Exhibition, the prizes from which have just come to hand.

PARAGUAY.

Asuncion, Dec. 13th 1889.

In a former letter we arrived at the conclusion that Paraguay from its climatic and other natural advantages is admirably suited for the purposes of colonization, and we stated also that there exists a Government which does its best to favour progress; for whatever may be the private squabbles and disputes in party politics, the Government certainly shows itself inclined to help foreigners as well as citizens in all legitimate endeavours to win fortune for themselves whilst at the same time advancing the welfare of the country.

With these advantages have we then any obstacles to colonization and are they insuperable or not? To the question have we any insuperable obstacles to colonization, we answer unhesitatingly no. We go farther and assert that the existing obstacles are of such a nature that the forces exerted in overcoming them will produce a greater benefit to the country than if they had never existed These obstacles then are: 1. Bad state of roads and bridges; 2. Lack of drainage of swamps; 3. Absence of cheap and quick communication with the month of the River Plate. And 4 last and most important of all, a great scarcity of indigenous labour, and not only a scarcity of such labour owing to lack of adult population, but also a strong disinclination on the part of such population as does exist to work at all so long as life can be maintained without it. We will now take these obstacles one by one and consider them in turn. As for the roads and bridges they can be easily repaired and built. There would not be much difficulty in draining most of the swamps, since they almost invariably have outlets into adjacent rivers by means of tortuous canals. The cleaning and straightening of these canals would in many instances dry the existing swamps. The undertaking of these works will attract foreign labour, while at the same time encouraging the natives to bestir themselves. When the Paraguayan peasants cross rivers on solid bridges where formerly they have floundered in mud and water; when they can ride on sound roads as far in one day as they now do in two; they may then begin to think that the "Gringo" is worth something after all, and from admiration to emulation is but a short step.

The lack of quick and cheap communication with a seaport is a more serious matter, but this is now being taken in hand and will soon be improved, and this being so we can qualify this obstacle to colonization as but a temporary one.

Our last difficulty, the lack of labour, must of course be overcome by directing immigrants to these shores and providing for the fit and proper reception of them.

We must overcome the present apathetic laziness of the Paraguayan peasant, by arousing in him feelings of admiration and envy, and by rational and humane treatment we shall convert him from being an apathetic and distrustful spectator into an active and willing co-operator of all our plans.

Railway Items.

Telegrams received yesterday report a derailment near Melincué. The accident was caused by a bullock crossing the line at a moment when the train was a few yards from the incautious animal. The result was the killing of the bullock and the serious bruising of two passengers. Two carriages were destroyed by the violence of the shock. The passengers had to pass the night in Villa Casilda. These bullock-derailments, if we may be allowed the expression, are now very frequent. The principle by which the driver is guided, when he sees an animal on the line, is to put on all steam, if he cannot stop the train in time, and rush ahead with that lightning speed which saved one of Mr. Jules Verne's trains from destruction in his Voyage round the World in Eighty Days. But the principle is exploded, whether on account of the very improved breed of animals now or not we cannot say, but the fact stands that in nine cases out of ten, a collision with a bullock means a derailment, and often a serious one.

The Governor of Buenos Ayres promulgated the law recently voted imposing a stamp tax of 100 dollars on all applications for railway, canal or port privilege with guarantee, and 500 dollars on those petitions for similar privileges without guarantee.

The Transandine Railway Board have submitted to Government for approval the plans of the iron-work of the bridges to be built. These bridges are to have a span of 75 metres.

It appears that the sale by Mr. Pelaez of his railway concession to the Gran Ferro-Carril Central Sud-America, was not made known to Government, and as the Company have a good part of the material out and all the necessary men, they cannot push the works forward until certain formalities are filled. We believe there will be no difficulty about this, and the Board of Public Works will name an inspecter for the works.

Mr. Bouwer, in behalf of the Argentine Great Western, protested some time ago against the Argentine North Western building a bridge, on the conditions approved, across the rails of his company at Villa Mercedes. According to the plans the bridge would stand on the private property of the Argentine Great Western. A conference of the representatives of the companies was called by the Inspector-General, and it was agreed that the Villa Mercedes Station, being too small, should be enlarged and thus take in the proposed bridge.

The Inspector General has looked over the plans for the stations at Villa Devoto and Hurlingham, and he says that he sees no necessity for making such very large buildings. The body of the building, he says, should be built, and later on, when the places become peopled, the company can go on with the lateral structures.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

There was nothing whatever fresh in the Yellow Jack line yesterday, and timid people were more at their ease. The Moron people refused to allow the Sabalain family within a mile of them; so they have been sent to an estancia near Magdalena, kindly lent by Dr. Mir. It is a sad reflection that, although twenty years have elapsed since the appalling plague in 1870, the city is still without a decent Lazaretto, clean or foul, on sea or land, whilst millions and millions have been squandered in all sorts of unnecessary and useless ways. It seems the very height of absurdity to see a family sent from post to pillar, and finally scores of miles away, because there is no lazaretto in a country that should have a dozen such establishments ready for all diseases and emergencies. Last night we heard very curious rumors indeed about this so-called yellow fever case, but at such a late hour as to preclude further inquiries by our reporter. It is said that it was not yellow fever.

We hear from the Canary Islands that our old and gallant friend, Captain Foudacuro, has left for the Plate, and will be here in a few days. We all remember his daring trip from here to Europe in a little row-boat in 1881.

The Patria Italiana published yesterday a far more alarming letter from Italy about Argentine financial matters than that from our banker friend in Genoa. The arrest of the brokers here has fairly flabbergasted people in Italy; and some papers call out for the interference of the Roman Government, but whether with a view to release the brokers by force, or bring the gold premium down by firing hundred-ton guns at it, is not stated. The Italians expect a financial earthquake here at any moment; but perhaps the news of the release of the imprisoned brokers may ease their minds a little.

Another lot of bears and Bohemians are on board the Carlos R. At Montevideo they refused to allow them to land at any price, and they have come on here. It is really monstrous that such immigrants should be tolerated. The country is infested with them already.

We beg to call the attention of those of our readers interested in Dairy Farm business to an advertisement in another column announcing the sale of a lot of the celebrated Danish breed of "Angler" cows. The animals, numbering twenty-two, have been specially selected in Denmark by Messrs. Bledel and Jacobsen, and are, as the advertisement states, to be seen at the stables belonging to the Rural Society in Palermo. They belong to a breed that on a yearly average yield from ten thousand to twelve thousand litres of milk. As for their further merits, reference can be made to Messrs. Jacobsen, Nelson and Co., Bolivar 375.

There is a great discussion going on at present about the origin of the word Cuyo, as applied to certain provinces up country. General Mitre states that he cannot say where the word comes from, but he quotes a letter in which the word is first mentioned. Some people say it is an Indian word for sand or desert. Can none of our readers tell us the origin of Cuyo?

The dust storm at 4 o'clock yesterday morning was a 'snorter'. A late-to-bed subscriber who was caught in the thick of it tells us that the slamming of "persianas" and doors, left open owing to the heat, was very funny to hear. All along the empty streets the noise was like volley and file firing, till the inmates were gradually awakened and made things fast. Some of the peals of thunder were truly tremendous.

Another action, this time in the Criminal Court, has been brought against the Salubrity Company by a Mr. Grau who runs a lodging house in Calle Corrientes, for cutting off his supply of water. The Central People's Committee announce that they are ready to let loose the dogs of law on the Company in every case, and the victims have only to apply to them.

Overheard at the "Hotel Suisse," Nice—Miss Lovelorn (whose age is very doubtful): "Does your father ever say anything about your calling on me?"—Feathertop (quite young): "No, but he often speaks of you."—Miss L. (smiling): "Yes? And what does he say?"—F. "He says he went to school with you".—Miss L.: "Oh, did he!"—She quits smiling, and goes for a walk on the Promenade des Anglais.

The accidental omission in yesterday's issue of the local habitation of "the best-looking auctioneer in the republic, outside this city", procured us two inquiries, in spider-like female hands, for the gentleman's address, which is Salta. If the fair inquirers would like a look at his photograph, we have it in our office.

In spite of the Zoophiles, pigeon-shooting began on Sunday at Mar del Plata, the winners of the several events being respectively Messrs. R. Luro, Iturraz-Correas, C. Luro and Stafford. Eligible bachelors, or even hobbledehoys, are so scarce that the host of pretty girls now at the "Mar" are quite disgusted, and, "faute de mieux", dance with each other every night. The hotels are not even half full, and the owners thereof look rather long in the face, as, when visitors do not turn up in January, they do not appear at all. Bathing goes on every day, wet or dry; and the sea has behaved very well up to the present, being calm as a lake almost every day.

A habitual drunkard in Norway and Sweden renders himself liable to imprisonment for his love of strong drink, and during his incarceration he is required to submit to a plan of treatment for the cure of his failing, which is said to produce marvellous results. This plan consists in making the delinquent subsist entirely on bread and wine. The bread is steeped in a bowl of wine for an hour or more before the meal is served. The first day the habitual toper takes his food in this shape without repugnance; the second he finds it less agreeable to his palate; finally, he positively loathes the sight of it. Experience shews that a period of from eight to ten days of this regimen is generally more than sufficient to make a man evince the greatest aversion for anything in the shape of wine, and many men after their incarceration become total abstainers.

Governor Paz is said to have been most agreeably disappointed on his visit to the Centros Agricolas, which he found in most cases to be in the condition prescribed by law, and in some even in advance of it.

The military promotions in Brazil and the haste to cut the connection between Church and State before the republic is legally constituted bodes no good in the future for the empire. Fonseca has made his own secretary a colonel. The pay of the army has also been increased. A good republic should have no standing army at all—at least none to speak of, like the United States. The settlement of the Misiones question, giving this country the lion's share of the territory in dispute, is the only act of broad-viewed statesmanship as yet to the credit of the young republic.

The death of the venerable Empress Augusta, of Germany, followed fast on the announcement of her illness. She was seventy-nine years of age. The Imperial lady never went out of her way to conceal her preference for things French, which made her less popular in Germany than she otherwise might have been.

We presume most of our readers have heard of the famous Ober-Ammergau Passion Play in Bavaria, the most extraordinary dramatic representation of its kind in the world. It is only given every ten years. The last time was in 1880, when our old friend, Professor Martin, witnessed it and afterwards gave us a very inter

OVERLA

Eighteen shares of the Banco de Italia, with dividend and right to scrip, sold to day at $3 90 fuertes gold per share.

The Hon. John Baring, in company with Mr. Anderson, manager of the London and River Plate Bank, and other friends, visited the Madero Port-works and the new dock this morning. Mr. N. Bouwer left last evening for Montevideo. Dr. Pacheco, Minister of Hacienda, visited the National Bank this morning.

We hold for our next still further advices from Genoa about the crisis in Buenos Aires. Some of our Genoese colleagues write very severely about the losses of the Italian labourers, and the attention of President Celman might well be called to their remarks, as they reflect the state of opinion in Italy on the Plate, and judging by the President's speech at the Palermo pic-nic, H.E., is kept in the dark as to the real state of public opinion both here and in Europe on the crisis, of which he evidently thinks so little.

In Barcelona they are all frightened out of their lives about the crisis in the Plate. Letters from there by the Italian mail state that there is a panic in Spain about the high price of gold in Buenos Aires.

The Quequen Company, in spite of the crisis, is, we hear, going ahead and selling sites for houses and quintas faster than was expected. This is the true way to manage the affairs of such a company. The more sales, no matter how cheap, the better, as any price pays a handsome profit to the company, the land having only cost ten cents per vara.

In the Once market this morning arrivals were small, but everything sold freely and well, as also in the South market, where the arrivals were fairly large.

The Pacific packet Britannia arrived in the Mount to-day. Her passengers and mails come up in the river boat Venus to-night.

Montevidean advices shew that the Obras shares are now down to 26½, a very pitiable figure indeed, though one that compares favorably with some of the quotations on this side of the water.

An evening colleague is responsible for the terrible announcement that two leading brokers have received orders to call in 5 million dollars this month lent out against stocks. If true it will come a further collapse in quotations.

Mr. W. R. Grant, the well-known estanciero, has sold his wool of the estancia La Seca, in the district of Rauch, several thousand arrobas, at $9½ m/n per 10 kilos, in the galpon, bellies included. This price is equivalent to $10.25 m/n per 10 kilos. in town. The wool is mestiza Lincoln.

Advices from all the inside camps announce a plethora of grasses and splendid condition of flocks and herds. Such is the superabundance of grasses, that another bad season is expected next winter.

A profitable business in the camp to-day is the slaughter of so-called Mira-soles, a pastic birds that abound in the South. It appears that the feathers have suddenly become valuable, owing to the demand for the helmets or caps of the Russian army. This is an unexpected source of revenue.

Business at the second hour was marked by a heavy drop in gold, which clearly proves that the panic about the supposed yellow-fever case is now over. The rate declined for all dates, closing at 233,30 for to-morrow, 233 20 for Saturday, and 233 50 for end month. National Bank Shares were done at 191 for cash and 192 for end month, which shews a heavy drop, also Catalinas at 48.50, or say nearly 10 points down since beginning of month. In Cedulas very little was done, rates remaining more or less the same.

In the exchange market there were more drawers to-day, and rates were quoted at 47.50 to 3d London, 5.02 03 francs on France, 5.04 05 fcs Antwerp, and 4.05-06 marks Hamburg.

The following is a summary of operations effected this evening at the second ring:—

The s.s. Wordsworth sails to day for Southampton and Antwerp. She takes a good passenger list, as usual, and the following cargo:—

19,000 salted hides
2,205 bales of wool, etc.
1,500 bags of wheat
3,400 bags of maize
1,180 bales of beef

The s.s. Rubens sails for Liverpool direct to-morrow with

405 bales of wool and skins
2,300 bags of wheat
9,000 bags of maize.

The cost of the work done in the 4th section of the port works in December was 89,519 doll., upon which Messrs. Madero and Son get a commission of seven per cent. Owing to the non-completion of the Dique Nr. 1, the Minister of Finance has decided to charge Messrs. Madero 7 per cent interest on the amount paid, until the dock is terminated.

The Sociedad Cientifica Argentina has applied for registration of statutes.

We see by the Telegrafo Maritimo that the last Brazilian packet arrived in Montevideo with over 82,000,000 Reis, which is something over 40,000 dollars gold. The consignment was as follows:—

| | Reis |
|---|---|
| From Pelotas—to B.L Brazilian | 31:812$050 |

A Paraguayan colleague announces that a lighter will shortly clear from Asuncion with 500 tons of a textile plant known as "ibyra" for one of the manufactories of this city, which has contracted for a supply of 100,000 tons. The plant is considered the best of its kind, and is most abundant.

The s.s. Ranmoor filled up to-day in Campana with 8,000 frozen wethers of the Drabble establishment, and will be followed by the s.s. Zenobia, which will receive 37,000.

The insurance company La Italia Reaseguradora has purchased from Mr. Angel Marini the splendid property at the corner of Callao and Avenida Republica, measuring 14.63x40.26 yards, for 170,000 dollars. The title deeds were signed yesterday.

Compania Muelles y Depositos del Puerto de La Plata.

Los Muelles de la Compañia estan habilitados para embarque y desembarque de mercaderias por decreto del Exmo. Gobierno Nacional, asi como los almacenes para deposito de carga.

El Ferro-carril de la Provincia recibe carga, directamente, á la Estacion Rio Santiago, sobre los mismos Muelles, á fin de facilitar la exportacion de cereales y frutos del pais.

No necesitamos recomendar al publico y al comercio las ventajas que alcanzará haciendo sus importaciones y exportaciones por los Muelles de la Compañia: basta imponerse de la tarifa para convencerse de las grandes economias que ofrece el Puerto de La Plata.
